Update from Mr Brough

As I am sure you are aware, this week the government have announced that schools will not re-open after the February half term as originally anticipated. The government have said they will give schools two weeks notice of reopening, and I assure you we will continue to keep you updated and informed of any changes as we are made aware of them.

Although this lockdown continues to bring many challenges for both us in school looking after key worker children whilst creating and supporting home learning, and yourselves at home managing home-schooling and working hard, I continue to be impressed with your efforts. Thank you for the positive feedback I have received in relation to the systems we have in place to support children's education, to remain safe in such difficult and trying times, and encourage you to continue to maintain good levels of contact with your child's teacher. Please remember you are always welcome to email staff or telephone the school if you are having difficulties with any of the tasks set. Although there may be a slight delay in responses when teachers are looking after children who have to be in school, we will do our very best to support you.

Keep safe and well.

Mr Brough.

Thank You!

The Governors have been in regular meetings with Mr Brough to help monitor the current lockdown situation, and provide their help and support with the current arrangements.

Following this weeks meeting they would like to send their thanks not only to all members of staff, but also to all parents for their efforts in such difficult circumstances.
